If you love motorcycle games, then STOP buying Milestone games.

They need to lose their MotoGP license, etc. so an actual game Studio can take over and develop actual games.

You've been warned.

This game launched once and never again.

0.7 Hours gameplay says it all. So, there it is, Chapter 2

I honestly enjoyed chapter 1, but as I learned that Hotaru will be the main heroine this time, I was like "Oh no, I didn't really like her in Chap 1"

BUT how wrong I was. The more I got to know about her, the more I got to like her. She really gives you a taste of heaven, like she always says.

Chap 2 is storywise a little bit better than Chap 1. Lot's of silce of life and even a bit of drama. And not to forget that after credits scene.

Characterwise, there is one new side character and one new main character, namely Ritsu and Rikka. Both are fitting into the already awesome character cast very well. Aside from Hotaru, Alice comes to shine too!

The voice acting is flawless and a pleasure, there is really nothing to complain in my opinion.

The soundtrack is very simillar to chap 1 (some or even a lot of tracks are reused), which isn't bad at all, it's just Supipara-like.

The good thing about Supipara is always the amount of CG's and the quality of the game itself, just look at the screenshots, you can even tell how good the quality is just by looking

As far as I noticed, there are only some very very minor things I didn't like. Firstly, there is no music in the main menu, and secondly, the opening (which you can see at the steam store page) doesn't appear in the game.

The playtime is around 15h, a little bit longer than chap 1

I sincerely wish that Momiji's chapter will be successfully funded, hopefully it doesn't take years... Seriously, Supipara was always very very high on my personal ranking and belongs even to my favorites! Chap 2 proves that.. This soundtrack fits every medieval themed game. Its medieval tones are brilliant and so are all the songs, except the oriental soundig one.. Its fast, simple, solid, looks gorgeous, and is affordable what more do you want? Like Luftrausers there is no reason this shouldn't be in your library when you are craving some bite sized fun.. if you could add stars i would add like 1000000000000000 stars. I realize that it is one of my favourite games on Steam. I didn't play it as much as some other games, but I think they made something timeless. I love the pace, the gameplay, the traps, the fact that every tower is randomly generated. It's the kind of game you could play anytime when you got no idea what to play else. It is very enjoyable to any kind of player I think, as there are 4 difficulty modes (easy is a stroll if you just want to play it cool, normal gives you a fluid pace yet asks the player to stay alert, hard adds tension and adrenaline, and nightmare is for masochistics but stays fun despite being unfair sometimes, thanks to the checkpoints). I think what I like the most is that the gameplay is very simple (move, jump, push, use), but as the blocs of the tower are always moving and changing, the playground is modified every couple of seconds and it forces the player to be watchful. This transforms the game into something that is not only a puzzle game, but also an action\platformer game, and if everything is ruled by simple mechanics, all things piled together makes for something complex and satisfactory for the player.. Where the ♥♥♥♥ is Waldo?. waz to simple combat system but that maybe because i would like to use tactics instead of just sending a unit one location and calling it done once it kills its main tzpe of target. This game is just a waste of money peroid, i can run Arma3 on my system no problem, this game, gets to the last loading screen then crashes, poorly optimized if it even is, waste of money even in a sale, never been so disgusted with a purchase ever in steam, but this is it.

The first game was much better. Where it was more like a quick demo of various evolving styles, the sequel is excruciatingly drawn out and filled with an absolutely horrible and childish story-line. Twenty hours of clicking through vapid dialogue that could've been written for a first grader instead of an adult gamer. It's a shame, because I really wanted to like this game.. The Puzzle Room is another one of the good ones, and judging from the menu there's more coming in addition to the two rooms the game already has. There's a lot of things to play with, hats to wear, things to paint on, and puzzles to solve, and that makes this one feel unique; not everything in these rooms are related to the puzzles, some things are just there to let you wind down and spray paint the walls or put on a Vader helmet and swing around a lightsaber for the fun of it. The second room may or may not have a problem because one of the keys on the computer's keyboard doesn't work for me that may be required for the answer, but otherwise this is a firm contender for "one of the good ones" in the Escape Room VR category.. quote;Vox is in alpha and still highly in development and will continue to be updated on a regular basis"

This is not true. Game hasn't been touched in years. Literally years.

Do not buy this.. Very fun looking shooter. Nice skill/weapon progression against an equally progressing inventory of enemies. Graphics are great, and the story is ok.. Bought it, installed it, game wouldn't progress past the loading screen, got my refund.

If it gets fixed I'll try it again. Looks like fun.. Rocksmith but for the soprano recorder! I bought a soprano recorder baroque just for this game (they are very cheap) and now I am learning very quickly and easily how to play some tunes (without having to read sheet music). Very cool game and very cheap. I hope they add more songs!
